16 Redundancy

16.1 Redeployment and Retraining the Preferred Option

The parties agree that it is not desirable to lose the services of staff members through redundancy. It is the parties preferred option to seek redeployment and retraining opportunities within the organisation should the occasion arise.

16.2 Commitment to Consult

Where the Employer believes that it may be necessary to make one or more positions within the enterprise redundant, the Employer agrees to immediately notify the affected Employee(s) and to commence a process of ongoing consultation as described in the consultation clause of this Agreement.

- (a) The Employer will actively explore all internal redeployment opportunities for staff surplus to requirements.
- (b) A staff member seeking redeployment may, if reasonable, be retrained for an available position on condition that the staff member can demonstrate that he or she possesses the necessary capacity for that position.

- (e) If an Employee is redeployed into a lower paying classification than their redundant position, the Employer will either provide the Employee with notice in accordance with clause 16.4 or pay them at their higher classification rate of pay (including all-purpose allowances, shift rates and penalty rates applicable to ordinary hours) for the equivalent of the duration of the notice that they would have been entitled to under clause 16.4. ### 16.4 Notice of Redundancy

The Employer undertakes to provide the maximum possible notice of the need to make a position(s) redundant or reduce or alter hours, which causes a loss of Employee's income. In all cases however, the minimum period of notice for Employees subject to termination or reduction or alteration of hours, which causes a loss of Employee's income, will be 2 weeks.

The required period of notice in the event that a position is made redundant or hours are reduced or altered to cause a loss of Employee's income is as follows:

PROVIDED that, the Employer will only be required to seek such expressions of interest from staff employed at the same worksite and in the same classification as the position being made redundant.

In assessing applications for voluntary redundancy, the parties acknowledge that the Employer will take into account the skill and operational requirements of the enterprise.

In normal circumstances involuntary redundancies will only be considered where there are no, or insufficient volunteers from existing staff, however, the parties accept that in assessing applications for voluntary redundancy, either as a result of a position(s) being redundant or through the reduction or alteration of a position(s) hours which causes a loss of an Employee's income, the Employer will be entitled to take into account the operational requirements of the business.

PROVIDED THAT such claims must be verified by the production of receipts or other form of documentation indicating the prior expenditure incurred associated with pre-holiday arrangements. Such costs are deemed to be those in excess of costs normally incurred by the Employee in travelling daily to and from work.

The reimbursement of costs associated with the resumption of annual leave would only apply when the period of leave was deemed to be continuous, save only for the interruption occasioned by the return to work.

Claims for reimbursement of travel and other associated costs must be accompanied by receipts and any other form of documentation which would be appropriate to the circumstances of the claim.

- (c) An Employee, on returning to work in response to an Employer instigated request, shall be re-credited with one day's annual leave for each day or part thereof the Employee is deemed to be at work. The Employee shall be entitled to observe such additional re-credited day or days in addition to that unused portion of approved annual leave (which the Employee would have observed but for the interruption occasioned by his/her return to work) immediately upon the expiration of the period of duty for which the Employer recalled the Employee.
